Question:

8. Identify the amount of lobbying costs incurred by TAWC in 2018, including an identification of the account in which such costs were recorded and whether such costs were included in the General and Administrative total costs of $14,106,024. If such costs are included as an Operating Expense within the Company's December 2018 3.06 Report (See Company's Response to CA Request No. 2-2, Docket No. 18-00120), identify the portion of costs identified as lobbying into the following categories:

    f. All Other Lobbying.

    If no labor associated with the positions identified in a. through c. above are defined as lobbying by the Company and such costs are recorded as an Operating Expense, provide the justification for the lack of assignment of any of these costs attributable to the passage of legislation in calendar year 2018.

12. Provide a comprehensive discussion supporting the continuation of maintaining a single Capital Rider calculation for all the TAWC areas versus computing individual Capital Rider percentages by area. To the extent certain areas require significant capital expenditures which are disproportionate to the ratio of average charges by customer as well as the customer counts within that area, and which would result in material cross-charges between systems, discuss how one set of Capital Rider charges would be in the public interest rather than a more precise calculation of Capital Rider charges by area. At what point would disproportionate capital spending among TAWC areas justify adoption of separate charges by area?

Response:

TAWC responds that the Capital Rider calculation tariff provides for a single calculation and that is how the riders have been implemented since their inception. This approach is consistent with the Capital Rider tariffs. If the Consumer Advocate wishes to challenge this long-approved approach, the Consumer Advocate may do so in its Pre-filed Testimony. TAWC objects to the remainder of this request on the grounds that it is vague, ambiguous and calls for speculation .

U.S. Master Depreciation Guide, ¶180, Computing MACRS Deductions With Tables—Part 1 of 2

Federal Tax > Federal Tax Editorial Content > Specialty Tax Areas > U.S. Master Depreciation Guide > Modified ACRS (MACRS) > MACRS Depreciation Calculations and Tables > ¶180, Computing MACRS Deductions With Tables—Part 1 of 2

This document is split into multiple parts. Click here to read Part 2.

MACRS depreciation tables contain the annual depreciation percentage rates that are applied to the unadjusted basis of a depreciable asset in each year of its recovery (depreciation) period (Section 8 of Rev. Proc. 87-57, 1987-2 CB 687, as amplified and clarified by Rev. Proc. 89-15, 1989-1 CB 816).

For purposes of applying the table percentages, the "unadjusted basis" appears by the IRS to be used interchangeable with the term "unadjusted depreciable basis." Unadjusted depreciable basis is the adjusted basis of property for purposes of determining gain or loss under Code Sec. 1011 without regard to any adjustments described in Code Sec. 1016(a)(2) and (3) (i.e., depreciation deductions). This basis reflects the reduction in basis for the percentage of the taxpayer's personal use of the property, for any portion of the basis the taxpayer properly elects to treat as an expense under Code Sec. 179, Code Sec. 179C, or any similar provision, and for any adjustments to basis provided by other provisions of the Internal Revenue Code and the regulations under the Code (other than Code Sec. 1016(a)(2) and (3)) (for example, a reduction in basis by the amount of the disabled access credit pursuant under Code Sec. 44(d)(7)) ( Reg.§1.168(b)-1(a)(3)). Other adjustments include the bonus depreciation deduction, any amortization claimed on the property, deductions for clean fuel vehicles or clean fuel refueling property placed in service before January 1, 2006, and any electric vehicle ( IRS Publication 946).

Thus, in most cases unadjusted depreciable basis is generally equal to cost (adjusted for personal use) less any Code Sec. 179 allowance ( ¶300) and any bonus depreciation deduction ( ¶127D and following) claimed. Bonus depreciation is computed on the cost (adjusted for personal use) after reduction by any amount expensed under Code Sec. 179 Reg. §1.168(k)-1(a)(2). The regular MACRS depreciation deductions are then computed on the adjusted depreciable basis (cost as reduced by the section 179 expense allowance and bonus depreciation).

Adjusted depreciable basis is the unadjusted depreciable basis of the property, as defined above, less the depreciation adjustments described in Code Sec. 1016(a)(2) and (3) ( Reg.§1.168(b)-1(a)(4)).

The depreciation tables generally may be used to compute depreciation instead of the statutorily prescribed method and convention over the applicable recovery period. The tables incorporate the appropriate convention and the switch required by Code Sec. 168(b) from the declining-balance method to the straight-line method in the year that the straight-line method provides a depreciation allowance larger than the declining balance method. The tables may be used for any item of property (that otherwise qualifies for MACRS) placed in service in a tax year ( Rev. Proc. 87-57, 1987-2 CB 687, as amplified and clarified by Rev. Proc. 89-15, 1989-1 CB 816).

Exceptions

If a table is used to compute the annual depreciation allowance for any item of property, it must be used throughout the entire recovery period of such property. However, a taxpayer may not continue to use a table if there are any adjustments to the basis of the property for reasons other than (1) depreciation allowances or (2) an addition or improvement to such property that is subject to depreciation as a separate item of property ( Rev. Proc. 87-57, Section 8.02).

For example, if the basis of property is reduced as a result of a casualty to the property, or some other mid-stream basis adjustment, the tables may no longer be used and depreciation for the year of adjustment and the remainder of the recovery period is computed on the amount of adjusted basis of the property at the end of the tax year of adjustment and the remaining recovery period. See ¶179 for an example of the computation.

Although the retirement of a structural component of a building for which a loss deduction equal to the remaining undepreciated basis of the component is claimed, for example, by making a partial disposition election, results in a mid-stream basis adjustment to the building, an IRS example computes depreciation on the building following the partial disposition election by applying the remaining table percentages to the original basis of the building (39-year nonresidential real property) as reduced by the retirement loss. This IRS methodology correctly results in the recovery of the original basis of the building over the applicable 39-year recovery period ( Reg.§1.168(i)-8(i), Example 9). However, a taxpayer could also compute its remaining allowable depreciation deductions following the retirement loss basis adjustment without the table percentages. See Example (4C) at ¶162 for details.

The MACRS depreciation tables may not be used to depreciate property in a short tax year or thereafter. See ¶132 and ¶134 for short tax year computations. The depreciation table percentages are also inapplicable if an asset is disposed of before the end of its recovery (depreciation) period. See ¶160. However, the examples below illustrate how to make adjust the table percentage result in the year of an early disposition.

Application

The appropriate table depends on the depreciation system (general MACRS (GDS) or alternative MACRS (ADS)), and the applicable method, convention and recovery period. The tables list the percentage depreciation rates to be applied to the unadjusted basis of property in each tax year.

Tables 1 through 13 may be used for any property placed in service during a tax year. Tables 14 through 18 must be used for the alternative minimum tax computation or if a taxpayer has elected the MACRS 150-percent declining-balance method for regular tax depreciation calculations.

For three-, five-, seven-, and ten-year farm business property generally placed in service after 1988 and before 2018, the 200-percent declining-balance method is not available. The 150-percent declining-balance method with a switch to the straight-line method must be used. Consequently, for such property, Tables 1-5 may not be used if the farm property is placed in service before 2018. Instead, Tables 14-18, which incorporate the 150-percent declining-balance method and the appropriate convention, may be used.

Examples of calculations using MACRS percentage tables

The following examples illustrate how to use the depreciation tables to calculate MACRS deductions.

EXAMPLE (1)

An item of 5-year property costing $21,000 is placed in service in August 2017. If the taxpayer claims a $1,000 section 179 expense allowance, MACRS bonus depreciation is equal to $10,000 (($21,000 − $1,000) × 50%) and the basis, prior to the computation of the regular MACRS depreciation allowances is reduced to $10,000 ($21,000 − $1,000 − $10,000). Assume the half-year convention applies and GDS (200% DB) is chosen. The Table 1 percentages for 5-year property are applied to the $10,000 adjusted depreciable basis as follows:

| Year | Calculation | Deduction |
|---|---|---|
| 2017 | $10,000 × 20% | $ 2,000 |
| 2018 | $10,000 × 32% | 3,200 |
| 2019 | $10,000 × 19.20% | 1,920 |
| 2020 | $10,000 × 11.52% | 1,152 |
| 2021 | $10,000 × 11.52% | 1,152 |
| 2022 | $10,000 × 5.76% | 576 |
| | Total | $10,000 |

EXAMPLE (2)

©2019 CCH Incorporated and its affiliates and licensors. All rights reserved.
Subject to Terms & Conditions: http://researchhelp.cch.com/License_Agreement.htm

Assume that the 5-year property in Example (1) was sold in 2019. Technically, the tables may not be used to compute the deduction since the year 3 percentage for 2019 (19.20%) does not reflect the half-year convention (which allows one-half of a full year's depreciation in the year of disposition). However, this problem can be circumvented by using the year 3 table percentage but only claiming one-half of the deduction so computed ($10,000 × 19.20% × 50% = $960).

EXAMPLE (3)

Nonresidential real property is placed in service in March of 2018 by a calendar-year taxpayer. The cost of the building (excluding land) is $100,000. The taxpayer chooses to compute depreciation using the GDS percentages based on the straight-line method and 39-year recovery period. Accordingly, the Table 7A percentages are used. The column 3 percentages apply because the building was placed in service in the third month (March) of the tax year.

| Year | Calculation | Deduction |
|---|---|---|
| 2018 | $100,000 × 2.033% | $ 2,033 |
| 2018 - 2055 | $100,000 × 2.564% | 2,564 |
| 2056 | $100,000 × 0.535% | 535 |
| | Total | $100,000 |

EXAMPLE (4)

Assume the same facts as Example (3) except that the building was sold in December 2019. The property was in service for 11.5 months during the 2019 calendar tax year (January 1 through Mid-December). Note that the mid-month convention applies to real property; therefore, the building was considered sold in mid-December and one-half month's depreciation is allowed for that month. Depreciation for 2019 is computed as follows: $100,000 × 2.564% (column 3 percentage for property placed in service in March) × 11.5/12 (to reflect 11.5 months of a full year's deduction) = $2,457.

EXAMPLE (5)

An item of construction equipment costing $10,000 is placed in service in December 2018 by a calendar year taxpayer. This is the only depreciable property placed in service during 2018. The equipment is five-year property with a MACRS alternative depreciation system (ADS) recovery period of 6 years (Asset Class 15.0 at ¶191). The Taxpayer elects ADS, does not expense any amount under Code Sec. 179 and does not claim first-year bonus depreciation. The mid-quarter convention applies since more than 40% of the bases of all personal property was placed in service in the last quarter of the tax year ( ¶92). Depreciation should be calculated using the 6-year column from Table 12 (ADS mid-quarter convention table for property placed in service in the fourth quarter). The calculations are as follows:

| Year | Calculation | Deduction |
|---|---|---|
| 2018 | $10,000 × 2.08% | $ 208 |
| 2019 | $10,000 × 16.67% | 1,667 |
| 2020 | $10,000 × 16.67% | 1,667 |
| 2021 | $10,000 × 16.67% | 1,667 |

©2019 CCH Incorporated and its affiliates and licensors. All rights reserved.
Subject to Terms & Conditions: http://researchhelp.cch.com/License_Agreement.htm

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| 2022 | $10,000 × 16.66% | 1,666 |
| 2023 | $10,000 × 16.67% | 1,667 |
| 2024 | $10,000 × 14.58% | 1,458 |
| | Total | $10,000 |

EXAMPLE (6)

Assume the same facts as in Example (5) except that the machinery is sold in January of 2020. Under the mid-quarter convention the property is treated as sold on the mid-point of the first quarter (i.e., mid-February) and one and one-half months of a full year's depreciation may be deducted. Depreciation for 2020 is, therefore, $208 ($10,000 × 16.67% × 1.5/12 (to reflect one and one-half months depreciation)).

Disposition in last year of recovery period

For rules regarding the computation of depreciation on an item of personal property disposed of in the last year of its recovery period see ¶160.

Partial business use computation

If a depreciable asset is only used partially for business/investment purposes, the cost of the asset is multiplied by the business/investment use percentage. Any amount expensed under Code Sec. 179 or claimed as bonus depreciation is then subtracted from this amount (IRS Form 4562 Instructions for line 19 column (c) and line 26 column (e)).

EXAMPLE (7)

A new machine costing $100,000 is purchased on January 17, 2017. The machine is 5-year property and is used 80% for business in 2017. The taxpayer may elect to expense up to $80,000 of the cost ($100,000 × 80%). The taxpayer, however, elects to expense $40,000 of the cost and claim bonus depreciation. Bonus depreciation is $20,000 (($100,000 × 80% − $40,000) × 50%).

Regular first-year depreciation using the first-year table percentage (20%) is $6,000 computed as follows:

(($100,000 × 80%) − $40,000 − $20,000) × 20% = $4,000

EXAMPLE (8)

Assume the same facts as in Example (7). Business use drops to 55% in 2018.

Regular first-year depreciation using the second-year table percentage (32%) is $0 because the $60,000 sum of the bonus depreciation ($20,000) and section 179 deduction ($40,000) claimed in the first year exceeds the $55,000 business use portion of the cost for 2018 ($100,000 × 55% = $55,000).

Since the depreciation calculation yields a negative result (−$1,600), depreciation allowed is considered $0 ((($100,000 × 55%) − $20,000 − $40,000) × 32% = −$1,600).

If the percentage of business use in a tax year after the recovery period ends exceeds the average percentage of business use during the recovery period a taxpayer may be entitled to claim additional depreciation deductions ( Code Sec. 168(i)(5); ACRS Proposed Reg.§1.168-2(j)(2)). This rule does not apply to listed property ( ¶208) such as a car ( Reg.§1.280F-4T(a)). See ¶169A for details.

TENNESSEE AMERICAN WATER COMPANY
DOCKET NO. 19-00031
SECOND DISCOVERY REQUEST OF THE
CONSUMER ADVOCATE AND PROTECTION DIVISION

Responsible Witness: John R. Wilde

Question:

18. Refer to the following:

a. Attachment provided in response to CA Request No. 1-4 in the current docket;

b. "WKP 2018 ADIT Summary" tab, within the Capital Rider Reconciliation file - Revised 5 16 19; and

c. Exhibit RT-EKC-1, provided in Docket No. 18-00120.

The total Repair deductions found within Attachment 1-4 is $15,726,113 for the period 2014 – 2018, calculated by the Company and determined to be associated with the Capital Riders. This contrasts with total Repair Deductions (presumably) for all TAWC property of $23,898,474 during this period, calculated from data shown on Attachment 1-4. Thus, during this period, the calculated Repair Deductions associated with Capital Rider expenditures as a percentage of total Repair Deductions was 65.8%.

1. Provide a narrative explanation of the types of Non-(Capital Rider) Eligible Plant identified within Exhibit RT-EKC-1 that was eligible for the Repair Deduction.

2. Provide the Amount, Project Title, Account Number, and Account Description of all Non-Eligible Plant, by year, as shown on Exhibit RT-EKC-1. The information provided should be consistent in form with that provided within the "WKP 2018 Tax Depreciation Balances" tab, columns G, I and K.

3. Confirm that the majority of plant eligible for the Repair Deduction is comprised of Service lines, Distribution lines, Main installation, and Main replacements.

4. Given that the ratio of Repairs used within the Capital Rider calculation for the period 2014 – 2016 uses a denominator of Total Plant, provide a comprehensive explanation why the resulting ratio should not be applied to all Capital Rider expenditures.

5. Referring to the Company's Response to CA Request No. 1-4, provide a complete explanation justifying the various methods used to determine the Repair Deduction over the five-year period. What is the rationale for the use of four different methodologies over this six-year period, rather than the consistent use of one methodology?

6. Identify the annual Repair Deduction claimed on TAWC property within the appropriate entities' federal tax return for the period 2014 – 2018.

Response:

1. Any utility plant in service addition that would involve the replacement of something less than a tax unit of property or a major component thereof.

2. See attachment "TAW_R_CPADDR2_NUM018_090919_Attachment1".

3. Generally, a majority of the Plant eligible for the Repairs Deduction is comprised of service lines, distribution lines, main installations and main replacements but also includes the non-network property located in the Company's plants and buildings.

4. As explained in 1 above not all property additions are eligible for a tax repair, and rider eligible property additions could have included a disproportionate percentage of addition not eligible for a tax repair deduction. In addition, the tax repairs method being used was modified in 2015 to exclude meters, so 2014 percentage and prior repair deductions would overstate the deduction actually claimed inclusive of the 2015 481(a) adjustment. Therefore, as a refinement the percentage was applied to property that would have been most likely to have resulted in a tax repair deduction. In addition, to the extent a tax repair was not estimated, the calculation would have considered if the property was bonus eligible. Therefore, if the repair estimate was to be modified, then the bonus and depreciation estimate has to be modified accordingly. For 2014-2016, see the following table indicating what the change in tax repair deduction would be, however, that number would need to be adjusted for tax depreciation and bonus, and would result insignificant change in the estimate.

| | 2014 | 2015 | 2016 |
|---|---|---|---|
| Rider Property | 6,823,293 | 24,365,106 | 13,575,732 |
| Repair % used | 22.93% | 17.71% | 35.94% |
| Rider Property * Repairs % used | 1,564,581 | 4,315,060 | 4,879,118 |
| Rider Repair calculated | 1,348,263 | 3,975,280 | 4,413,887 |
| Difference | 216,318 | 339,780 | 465,231 |

5. The question inquires about a 6 year period, but the Company's estimate only covers 2014-2018 a five year period. In addition, the Company is aware of using only two methods, for 2014-2016 it applied the ratio of total repairs claimed over total utility plant additions to rider property that was eligible for a tax repair deduction. In 2017-2018 it used ratio of tax repairs over total replacement property. In an attempt to address all the complexities of making a repairs determination on a portion of the plant additions in any given year, the Company may have made the determination overly complex for 2014-2018 period. However, those complexities do exist, and an oversimplied method will not account for them either. As a matter of simplicity the Company could have used a single method for all 4 years, using the ratio of actual repair deductions claimed to total Utility Plant Additions. The Company will provide this alternative calculation with the corresponding adjustments to tax depreciation and bonus depreciation. See "TAW_R_CPADDR2_NUM018_090919_Attachment2". .

6. The Company took the following as a tax repairs deduction - Year 2017 – $6,917,812; Year 2016 – $6,375,298; Year 2015 – $5,108,100; Year 2014 - $3,545,498. In addition, in 2015, the company filed a section 481(a) adjustment related to repairs, specifically reversing the deductions taken in prior years related to meters. This adjustment was spread over the 2015-2018 tax returns. The net adjustment was $3,304,563.
