Dear Tennessee Public Utility Commission,

Re: Docket No. 24-00044 – Limestone Water Utility Operating Company Phase 2 Rate Implementation

As a residential sewer customer of Limestone Water in the A [REDACTED] R [REDACTED] subdivision of [REDACTED] I am writing to express serious concern regarding the Phase 2 rate implementation.

Under the new structure, my monthly sewer bill will rise to approximately $140. This is an unsustainable burden for many homeowners in my neighborhood, particularly those on fixed or modest incomes. Such a significant charge for sewer service alone does not feel just or reasonable, especially as existing customers are not receiving corresponding improvements in service reliability or quality.

I am specifically concerned that current customers may be effectively subsidizing infrastructure and capacity needed for new development. While our area is growing, it is fundamentally unfair for long-time residents to bear the cost of expansion for future homes.

I respectfully ask the Commission to carefully review Limestone Water's updated Phase 1 revenue data and cost allocations to ensure that Phase 2 does not over-recover from existing customers or shift the cost of growth onto our neighborhood. I also urge you to consider tempering the Phase 2 increase for residential sewer customers in Arrington Retreat and to require Limestone to demonstrate that any increases are narrowly tailored to necessary, prudently incurred costs for our existing systems.

Best,
Mario J. Robleto
